

Welcome to Clark Forest

Clark State Forest, established in 1903, is the oldest state forest in Indiana. Your state forests are managed under the multiple use policy in order to obtain maximum benefits from recreation, timber production and watershed protection. They are actively being managed to increase the fish and wildlife population. In addition, hiking, biking and horse trails are also being developed along with other recreation projects. These recreational programs are planned to be compatible with the protection of watershed that forests naturally provide.

Welcome to Deam Lake Complex

Deam Lake is a forest property designed for recreational activities. Under the multiple use concept, a variety of compatible activities are available. These include fishing, boating, swimming, camping, picnicking, hiking, hunting and biking in designated areas. The 194-acre lake was constructed in 1965 and was named in honor of Charles Deam, Indiana's first state forester. Deam is best known for his book, Trees of Indiana; a comprehensive study of trees throughout the state. He was also instrumental in getting land reserved for what is now the Department of Natural Resources.

State Management Policy

State forests are managed under a policy of multiple use in order to obtain benefits of recreation, forest products, watershed protection, wildlife habitat, and aesthetics. The growth and harvest of timber is planned to be compatible with ecosystem management, and to retain the many benefits that forests naturally provide.
